MARRERO WEDDINGS & EVENTS:

No stranger to special events, Paula Marrero began her career with Todd English Enterprises before starting a family. When Paula became a mother she had time to reevaluate her goals and passions, and with a flourish and a dream, Marrero Weddings and Events was born. "I decided to venture out on my own, specializing in weddings," she explains. "I have the background and I know the industry inside and out—I felt that I could bring a much different approach to the process."

Marrero Weddings and Events stands alone as the company that offers full-service consultation for couples who live both near and far, planning picture-perfect Cape Cod weddings. Last year the Studio at Marrero Weddings and Events was created, offering a complimentary service to couples seeking assistance with selecting quality vendors and wedding guidance. This elite company is a proud member of the Boston Wedding Group, and has been voted Best of Boston—recognizing them among the most exclusive wedding professionals.

from crafting delish bites for day-of dining to coordinating celebrations that capture the essence of your love, the cape & islands' wedding professionals bring the skills & knowledge needed to make your day stand out. for more local talent, visit weloved.com

**sean's ADVICE: sample a taste of what your caterer has to offer & seek someone with a reputation for more than amazing food. flawless fare tastes sweeter when your caterer is there from the first phone call, right up until the last dance, ensuring that your day runs seamlessly.*

EAT YOUR HEART OUT CATERERS:

With a personal passion for culinary excellence, Sean Dailey has always drawn inspiration from food. After attending culinary school, and working as a private chef for several years, he branched out on his own and opened Eat Your Heart Out Caterers. Now, almost ten years later, Sean continues to create customized feasts that translate couples' personal tastes into day-of dining. Each event that Sean Dailey approaches shines with memorable dishes that excite and tantalize even the pickiest taste buds.

In addition to fresh, innovative food, Sean and his attentive staff work with couples from beginning to end, ensuring perfection by offering connections to other reputable wedding professionals. With each new season, Eat Your Heart Out Caterers prides itself on being at the forefront of the latest epicurean trends. What can you look forward to in 2013? An abundance of local ingredients that will bring farm-to-table dining to your plate, as well as the use of upscale finger foods for playful wedding day fare.
